The route covers a waterfall near the village of Gobroneti, Colchian vegetated forest and area near the Latevra mountain. A route starts in the centre of village Gobroneti goes to the north and goes along the village ground road. The road is and after 300 metres it ends and we continue on the hiking road to the Gobroneti waterfall. While hiking on the trail one can meet Colchian type plants, widespread in the canyon of the river Ajaristskali. The slopes are covered with beech, chestnut, beech, hornbeam, oak, yew tree, we can also meet with the conifers; One can meet footsteps of the wild animals on the route, as in the forest there lives bear, wolf, jackel, fox, wild hog etc. Here you can meet with many various kinds of bird species. The touristic route goes along the flat roads, in some places meets slight ascents and after travelling 6 kms we reach the beautiful waterfall, which is named the Gobroneti waterfall, height of which is 17 m. From the waterfall we are returning with the same road back and after 200 metres we will start our road to the Latevra mountain. The road is difficult and passing 1 km one have to go through steep hills, after passing this road you reach Latevra mountain (1228 m), where you can meet local agricultural traditions and taste ecologically clean milk products. Here is the water and place for picnic. From the Latevra mountain we are heading village Gobroneti, on the road one can enjoy wonderful panoramic views of the Tsoniarisi gorge, the road is groundy and you can travel with the 4X4 vehicle after 5 km circle trail is ending in the village Gobroneti.

The water can be found in a few miles away from the starting point, so it is advisable to fill some stock for water supply. It is also worth mentioning that in the village Gobroneti there are family guesthouses, which may be an overnight stay and one can taste local meals made with ecologically clean products.
